Register for art classes at the Gallery or the School.

Most core Tall Grass Art School classes are five weeks in length. One week separates sections. The extra week between sessions is there to accommodate holidays and allow for special circumstances like weather closures, instructor illness or other scheduling conflicts. Two times a year there is a longer period between sessions because of the Art Fair in September and the flurry of December holidays. For your convenience we have decided to revise our schedule to include section dates through the end of 2009. See the individual class description for day and time.

WORKSHOPS

Oneliners® Stress Relief Drawing Workshops/Instructors/ Harry Brown &
Sarah Brenne

Experience a fresh new method for drawing away stress. Harry Brown's acclaimed Oneliners® Stress Relief Drawing Workshops empower individuals to create fresh and exciting drawings, employing an intuitive process that results in a relaxed, yet focused state of mind.
This gem of a workshop teaches a highly effective continuous-line drawing method. Students will learn to utilize a very fluid rhythmical approach to drawing, allowing their pens to glide across the paper, composing as they go. Students review The Art Elements and Principles, implementing them into one-of-a-kind bravado, all in a mere 2.5 hours.
Attend only one workshop to learn the stress relief drawing method that will last a lifetime. No prior art or drawing experience required.

All supplies are included.

Adults SA 2:00-4:30 PM Workshop is one Day $55 ($75)

Dates for 2008 are: August 23, October 11 and December 6

Park Forest Art Fair
September 20 – 21, 2008; September 19-20, 2009

Each year as a part of the Park Forest Art Fair we hold an art contest with ribbons awarded in first, second, third and fourth place in the following age groups—Ages 1-5, 5-8, 9-13, 14 and above. The Park Forest Library will schedule Storytime book readings during the two day fair.

Volunteers are needed to welcome guests at the school and to staff the Children's Art Contest at the fair. If you are interested in helping, please call Roger Paris at (708) 283-1251.

Classes may be added to this schedule. For latest information check our website at www.tallgrassarts.org
